Course Description

Although Interpreters are required to effectively translate and interpret across a wide range of subject matters, interpreting for adults and children who have experienced sexual assault remains one of their most challenging domains. Sexual assault can have a significant impact on victims, particularly on those from migrant or refugee backgrounds. This is largely due to the complex nature and dynamics of sexual assault including shame, secrecy, cultural traditions and community attitudes, as well as the legal implications of this crime. Deeper understanding of the impact of sexual assault can increase Interpreters' capacity to work more effectively with counsellors, social workers and Healthcare professionals in supporting victims. This 2 day workshop helps to equip Interpreters to assist service providers to create a safe environment for adult and children to disclose abuse and access help. It uses a trauma informed approach to provide a safe place to identify and reflect on their personal and cultural barriers that could get in the way of impartial and accurate interpreting, and supports the management of their own reactions to this highly emotive and distressing area of work. Other content areas include:

- The importance of maintaining professional boundaries.
- Effective strategies in working with Healthcare and other service providers in the context of sexual assault.
- The importance of briefing prior to, and debriefing after assignments, as well as clear understanding of roles and responsibilities in relation to relevant policy and protocol.

Eligible for 40 professional development points under NAATI recertification process
